031.	The first significant step step in the progress of English towards its status as a world language was the colonization of America which increased the figure of mother-tongue English speakers to around 250 millions and added a fresh dimension to the history of the language.	0
032.	Further settlements appeared along the coast and on the nearby islands, then the first group of puritans arrived in the company of 64 other settlers, prevented by storms from reaching the land of Virginia, they landed at Cape Cod Bay.	2
033.	During the 17 th century, new shiploads of immigrants brought an increasing variety of linguistic backgrounds, for example, Pennsylvania came to be settled mainly by Quakers, as a consequence, the sharp divisions between regional dialects began to blur.	2
034.	There was a vast wave of immigration from Northern Ireland in the 18 th century, most immigrants moved inland through the mountains, the opening of the south and west was largely due to the pioneering spirit of this group of settlers.	2
035.	Population numbered over 50 million a century after the first census, moreover, it spread throughout the continent.	2

As can we read in the article "World English" the first sign of English turning to be international language was the raise of number of its native speakers due to the colonization of America. There, in the New World, many dialects were thrown to the "melting pot". 48

I think that there can be other reasons why English ~~has~~ became the world language. For example, strong economy of the United States made trading with other countries possible and even forced some countries to start trading. That made ~~to~~ English ~~the~~ more common ~~it~~ in the world. 44

There are more views of this ^{issue} than I have already mentioned. Some people believe that English became the international language due to its simplicity. Some people consider the huge number of books and films produced in the English speaking countries the main reason. It is hard to say if any of them is right or wrong. 58

In conclusion, I believe that there is a piece of the truth in every possible view of this issue. What we know for sure is that English became the world language and ~~its~~ reasons can be not as important as people think. 42
