

Eminent economist and enterpriser

Henry Ford - was an American industrialist and business magnate and creator of the assembly line technique for mass production. By creating the first automobile that middle-class Americans could afford, he converted the automobile from an expensive curiosity into an accessible good. His way started as an engineer in Edison Illuminating Company of Detroit. After becoming the chief engineer, he started own experiments with gasoline and engines. Ford designed, built, and successfully raced a 26-horsepower automobile in October 1901. With this success, Murphy and other stockholders in the Detroit Automobile Company formed the Henry Ford Company on November 30, 1901, with Ford as chief engineer. Later after Ford left, it was rebranded as Cadillac Automobile Company. Ford also is a creator of Model-A and Model-T – the two fastest cars of their time. But we know Henry Ford from his assembly line. Should be told that he didn't invented such type of working, but he implemented it in large car enterprises.

Here are rules of business and lifestyle for successful people:

There is one rule for the industrialist and that is: make the best quality goods possible at the lowest cost possible, paying the highest wages possible.

Don't find fault, find a remedy.

Whether you think you can, or you think you can't – you're right.
